Today's Gospel

The good news of Christian faith is that no experience of our human condition, however "incurable" it may seem, even death, is hopeless. The mission of Jesus is to proclaim that God loves us and wants to give himself to us if we but turn to accept him.

The gospel today also reminds us that Jesus calls each of us by name to follow him: our ultimate happiness depends upon our response.

In this Sunday's liturgy we might pray for the gift of faith to follow Jesus into the life of God's love. And with the gift of sharing Christ's faith comes a peace that surpasses understanding.

Campion P. Gavalier, O.S.B.
