Temptation

When a Christian has chosen to live for God and for others, the devil is not pleased. At certain times the din of temptation, covered for a while by the song of love, returns more strident than ever.

God allows this trial, and is sometimes even deaf to the appeals of his child, in order to test him and to bring him to greater trust. Only when the Christian expects nothing of himself and everything of God, can he be at peace.

One must be very little to be carried by God.
