Receive the Holy Spirit. For those whose sins you forgive, they are forgiven; for those whose sins you retain, they are retained.

[Jn 20:23]

Unfortunately, we often retain the sins of others and ourselves.

Therefore we do not harvest the fruits of God's Spirit among us.

It is very striking that no mention is made of the place where the Apostles experienced that the Holy Spirit came and dwelt among them. I would like to believe that such details were intentionally left out. Why? Because such a situation could be any time and any place where people closet themselves.

Do we get the hint? Are we ready to say: Jesus is Lord! Are we ready to forget the pain, the insults, the injustice we have to bear and experience. Are we ready to ascend beyond our horizons and see them from the vantage point of the Lord in our midst? Is it not true that our cities look like jewels when we fly over them at night?
