St John Paul

A Lesson in Humility

Some years ago I was introduced to Mother Teresa by a friend. She refused to talk about herself. She wanted to know of the work I was involved in. The word "I" did not seem to be in her vocabularies. She was a walking study in humility. She had learned the lessons of today's Gospel.

The sage said, "Let me tell you of the most important words in life. The six most important are, 'I admit I made a mistake.' The five most important are, 'You did a good job.' The four most important are, 'What is your opinion?' The three most important are, 'If you please.' The two most important are, 'My gratitude.' The least important is 'I.' Knowing God makes us humble. Knowing ourselves keeps us humble."
